*Rafting Section

The rafting section will be on open water and the rafts will need to be stable and buoyant when the team is on it and it will be constructed by the teams (no Support Crews) on the day in the Transition area of that leg. The tube rafts must be constructed using tyre tubes and ropes (bracing material can be used such as bamboo, but the teams will need to carry the constructed rafts, so consider the weight of the craft). You must supply all your own tubes, ropes etc and there is no quantity limit.

- Make sure you have tested your raft and it is buoyant and stable before the event.
- Rafts are to be constructed by the team (no support crew to help) on arriving at the Transition for the Tube Rafting section.
- All tyre tubes need to be separate before the build but can have ropes attached to the single tubes (but not tied to each other).
- No hard materials such as wooden planks or plywood can be attached before the build.
- Teams can use as many tyre tubes as they want.
- T Grip or double ended paddles can be used, but not oars.
- Rafts are to be deconstructed by the team (no support crew to help) on arriving at the Transition before the next section of the race.
- All tyre tubes need to be separate before teams leave the Transition Area.
